Great Stay

We have just returned from a 1 night stay at this lovely pub. We must have picked the worst weekend, weather wise for ages. Rain far too bad to visit the coast, so stayed in doors, chatting to staff and regulars. Everyone was so welcoming. Accommodation is lovely, we had the family room, massive, comfortable bed, spacious bathroom with very hot shower. We had lunch, dinner and breakfast which were all very nice. They have a games room which was very good and entertaining as the weather was so bad. Mary and all of the staff were very welcoming. Would we stay again - definitely - maybe check the weather next time!

A cosy and comfortable pub

The Five Bells has a distinctly homely and comfortable feel to it. All the staff are friendly and welcoming and we are always made to feel at home. The menu is simple but effective and very reasonably priced. The choice of beers is good and the quality of the draught beers is excellent. We've stayed in the rooms a couple of times and have no complaints about the B n B either.

Caters for Gluten Free

On Sunday we booked a table to visit the Five Bells for the first time. A small friendly venue, with welcoming staff.

Menu caters for people who need to eat gluten free, which is excellent.

Food was lovely and good value for money. I had the Sunday roast lamb, including gluten free mint sauce and gravy!

Definetly would revisit.

- 😊 Customer service is very important to me and all the staff apply the highest level. The accommodation is comfortable and spotlessly clean and the food is fairly priced and well cooked. The drinks are also of a wide variety. I definitely recommend the 5 Bells to anyone looking for accommodation in the area and I will definitely be returning.
- 😊 I liked everything about the place.
